H. C. WESTERVELT,

The By some rascally mismanagement—we believe in the Washington Post-Office—the letters of our Washington correspondents, which should have reached us in season for Saturday's paper, did not come to hand till Sunday morning, when of course they were utterly useless. We know the fault was not with our vigilant and faithful correspondents, as the other City papers were left equally destitute.

IF FOR LITERARY NOTICES AND AN ARTICLE ON ASSO CIATION, &C., SEE FIRST PAGE. IT FOR PROF. LYELL'S SIXTH LECTURE, SEE LAST PAGE

This Day (April 4th) is the first anniversary of the lamented decease of our late beloved President, WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON. We un derstand that the National colors will be displayed at half-mast at the Whig head-quarters in remem brance of the Country's still keenly deplored be-

Election in Connecticut To-Day. Shame on the Whig who loiters here when his duty calls l'Assage of the Loan Bill .- Car last paper by a blunder, stated twice that the Loan bill had passed to a third reading. Of course the second statement should have been that it was read a third time and passed: Yeas 105; Nays 86 .-YEAS, 101 Whigs, including Messrs. Cushing and W. W. Irwin, (Tyler men;) with five Loco-Focos: Oliver of N. Y., Parmenter of Mass., Proffitt of Ind., Mallory and Wise of Va. (the last three Tyler men.) NAYS, seventy-five Loco Focos (including all the members from this city!) with Messrs. Everett of Vt. Goggin of Va. W. B. Campbell and Carathers of Tenn. J. L. White of Ind.; Stuart and Casey of Ill .- in all 11 Whigs.

Members of the Home League! remember the meeting at the Institute this evening.

Will The Sun and other journals which have been so red-mouthed in abusing the majority in Congress for not providing for the wants of the Government, be so just as to state by whom this bill was opposed and by what votes passed?

The struggle on this bill has been very arduous as well as protracted, and the Yeas and Nays were taken on the last day alone no less than seven times. The amendment, authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to issue stock and sell it on the best terms he can obtain, after due advertising, was first defeated by 99 to 97-every Loco Foco with Wise, Proffitt and Mallory in the majority; then reconsidered and passed, by 99 to 97, in opposition to all these same estimable Petriots .-Without this amendment, the bill would have been mere waste-paper-as not a dollar of cash could at present be raised under it.

Too much credit cannot be awarded to the gallant Whig phalanx which, in the face of unjust contumely and reviling, have dared and struggled to do what is right and needful for the honor of the Nation and the efficiency of the public service .-Mr. FILLMORE has especially won golden opinions by his manly bearing, dauntless energy and conciliating course as the author and chief defender of this great measure. New-York has reason to be proud-(may we not say she is proud?)-of the ability and honor with which her distinguished representative fills the responsible post of Chairman of Ways and Means.

IF The Courier and Enquirer is at perfect liberty constantly to misrepresent and seek to injure this paper, whether we can or cannot find room to reply to it, in the midst of the present extraordinary press of news from every quarter. But it ought to bear in mind that The Tribune is read, perhaps quite as extensively as the Courier, and that when it assails us for publishing the advertised Call of a Public Meeting or the Official Proceedings thereof, signed by its officers, it very unprofitably weakens whatever of character for fairness and justice it may have hitherto possessed. In regard to the Proceedings of the late meeting at National Hall, it can hardly be necessary to re-state that they were made up by the Secretary whose name is signed to them, in uniform accordance with the decisions of the President, whose name is also signed. We declined assuming any responsibility in the matter. Yet the Courier asserts that the Address reported by Mr. Lockwood was not carvied, as though that were a question with which we had any thing to do, after it had been declared adopted by the Chairman, and as such furnished with and embodied in the proceedings by the Sec retary .- If the Courier has any farther objections to make to the omission of "repeated cheerings for Henry Clay," &c. in the official record of a public meeting, it will please address them to those whose names are signed thereto.

All we have to say of the matter is, that the exaggerated accounts of uproar, confusion and collision which have been sent abroad with regard to this meeting were not justified by our observation. nor are they creditable to the Whigs of our City. There was a difference of opinion manifested, most certainly; but only so manifested as it well might be by gentlemen and political brethren.

We are obliged by its great length and the press upon our columns to divide Prof. LYELL's very interesting and instructive Lecture delivered Saturday evening on Fossil Footprints. We shall publish the conclusion to-morrow

IF Miss CLARENDON is to give a series of Elecutionary Readings this evening at the Society Library. Her selections are excellent, being from Otway's 'Venice Preserved,' Shakspere's 'Othello. ' Romeo and Juliet' and ' Hamlet,' Knowles's 'Hunchback,' and other standard dramas. She is said to read with great taste and power. For some weeks past she has given a similar series with most flattering success at the Albany Female Academy. We trust her readings will be well at.

The BRAHAMS, father and son, give a Musical Concert at the Society Library on Wednesday evening. Among the pieces to be performed are 'Acis and Galatea' by Handel, a duett 'All's Well,' and a song 'Time! Time!' by Mr. Chas. Braham, from the 'Nymph of the Grotto.'

The Merchants' Memorial. We earnestly invite the attention of Congress and the country to the following MEMORIAL OF THE IMPORTERS AND PRINCIPAL MERCHANTS OF THIS CITY, asking in effect for the IMPOSITION OF PROTECTIVE DUTIES ON FOREIGN MANUFACTURES by our Government. It is an important and plainspeaking document, and there is no mistake in this that it expresses the earnest desires and profound convictions of nine-tenths of the AMERICAN importers of Foreign Goods, and the great mass of our Wholesale Merchants of every party .-We understand that it has been eagerly signed by nineteen of every twenty houses to which it has been presented, by every American House but four in the Woolen trade, and by every large Crockery house in the City. These are facts which preclude all necessity of comment, for which, indeed, we have no room to-day. Here is the Memorial :

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives the United States The undersigned dealers in Foreign Goods, in the city of New-York. The regular business of the Country is depressed, and de ranged, beyond precedent; and the prospects, for the future, are gloomy in the extreme. In this state of affairs, we look with solicitude to the per nament arrangement of a Tariff, now under consideration by Congress, it being our decided conviction, that the adjust ment of the Revenue Laws is of equal or paramount importance, to any subject now claiming your attention. We plead for no particular interest or section, for we be lieve that all classes in every section of our common country are alike interested, in this important question. Being deeply impressed with the conviction, that nothing will adequately regulate the business or currency of the ountry but a Taruf of Duties on Imports, that will sustain and encourage our home products and industry, we earnestly, but respectfully pray you to impose such a Tariff as
